The most widely used cab apps in Lima are Uber and Cabify.

It is not recommended to use street cabs.

6. LANGUAGE

Spanish is the official language in Peru, but many people in the tourism sector speak English.

7. CLIMATE

Lima has a subtropical desert climate. October is spring in Peru and much of the country will still be in the dry season.

Peru's coastline near Lima averages highs of 68°F (20°C) and lows of 59°F (15°C).

For more information, check the country's official weather forecast page: <http://www.senamhi.gob.pe/>

8. CURRENCY

The official currency in Peru is the Sol (S/ or PEN). It is issued in bills of 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200 soles, as well as in coins of 10, 20 and 50 cents and in 1, 2 and 5 soles.

In shopping malls and the main avenues there are cash dispensers (ATMs) and Foreign Exchange bureaus. However, U.S. dollars are an accepted currency in commercial establishments.

The most widely accepted credit cards are: VISA, Master Card, American Express, and Dinners.

9. ELECTRIC CURRENT

Electricity in Peru has the standard voltage of 220 Volts (AC), 60Hz and the outlets used are of the American type with two and three pins.

While in most hotels the outlets are set up to accept both types of plugs, it may be a good idea to carry an adapter.

There are a limited number of power sockets in the meeting rooms. In general it will only be possible to charge electronic devices in designated areas.
